Warriors' midweights roll in win over King's

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. – Down by a point through four bouts, the Lycoming College wrestling team racked up 15 points in the next three to secure its 14th straight win over King's College, 25-14 on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 25, at Scandlon Gymnasium.

Down 8-7, sophomore 157-pounder Jayden Drummond (Georgetown, Del./Sussex Central) helped put the Warriors (10-4 overall) in the lead with an 11-3 win over Bret Murphy before sophomore 165-pounder Kaiden Wagner (Lewisburg, Pa./Lewisburg Area) notched a two-minute technical fall over Alex Ballantyne. Sophomore Nolen Zeigler (Loysville, Pa./West Perry) put the Warriors ahead 22-8 with a second-period pin of Jacob Hachtman at 174 pounds.

After King's (8-4 overall) took a pair of decisions to close the gap to 22-14, junior Michael Sipps (Lawrenceville, Pa./Cowaneseque Valley) closed the bout with a 9-6 sudden-victory win over Rich Fronheiser.

Senior Kaden Majcher (Turbotville, Pa./Warrior Run) opened the match with a 15-4 major decision over Patrick Horvath at 125 pounds and senior Thomas Conselyea (Landing, N.J./Roxbury) added a 9-6 win over Nick Germano at 133 pounds.

The Warriors are back on the mat on Tuesday, Jan. 28, when they head to Misericordia University for a 7 p.m. match.
